

DECEMBER 2017

Did you know?

Change happens. It is as sure as time passing itself, change happens. I have worked here 16 years, and for 16 years, I have enjoyed that beautiful tree in the front yard of The Buttery. Last week, that beautiful tree fell down.

Looking west, when the leaves were out in the spring, summer, and fall, that tree filled up the entire window facing Limestone Street. With just a little imagination, it felt as if we were eating lunch in a tree house.

Change is happening on the opposite side of The Buttery, too. Looking east from my back door, the wall to the new lower school is now entirely bricked up. It feels as if the new school is quickly approaching its' completion.

Change is happening everywhere in downtown Lexington, and no better place to see that change than right here on our campus.

Maybe we will get a new tree.
